Event Alert: Marin Show

Thursday, January 19, 2012 at 03:41PM

Do you love classic Native American art like this bracelet that we used in our latest Wear the Room section? Well then you should make sure that you are in San Rafael, CA Febraury 24-26 to attend the Marin Show: Art of the Americas. Check out this description from their site:

With more than 200 noted dealers, the show is described as the "Superbowl of Native American art collecting," bringing together top and passionate dealers, collectors, artists, and collectors from across the world. Explore a vast array of both antique and contemporary items for sale including; Native American, Pre-Columbian, Spanish Colonial, Latin American and Western art and collectibles.

Sound awesome? Yeah, we think so too. For more information head to marinshow.com!
